I am very concerned about the fact that the banks can take our savings to cover their risky dealings. They have proven not to be acting in the customers interest. I understand that Bob Kattter is putting forward the idea of banks separating their banking business from their risky gambling dealings. I support this idea and want no bail in provisions for banks and oppose any taking of savings to bail out banks debts. I have been working since 1954 so my hard earned savings are mine and not to be stolen by any bank due to their shonky dealings. The ordinary people want a fast safe and fair solution from our regulators..

It is about time people came before commerce in this amoral world. Commerce is supposed to support people not vice versa
