I fully advocate the separation of commercial banking from investment banking such as in a Glass Steagall format in the Australian Banking system.

We no longer as bank depositors have the security that we had many years ago when this was in place. I also feel commercial banking should be exempt from "Bail In" laws recently put in place by the Australian parliament and provisions within the banking sector within their own " terms and conditions" that commercial bank deposits can not be transferred or manipulated to fall under the boundaries of " bail in" .
