Your submission:

My submission is in support of the Glass Steagall act and submission to parliament which received strong support in parliament just recently.

I am disappointed that the government has bowed to strong banking lobby groups instead of looking after the electorate and the interests of the Australian people.

How do we allow our banks to gamble with the savings of the Australian people

Let those that wish to gamble take their risks without having the support of the Australian government.

and be paid for by the Australian People.

Regards

Peter Doyle
