Dear Commissioner

I urge you to take extremely seriously, the implications for a long suffering Australian public, of a banking system that is broken due to its own internal corruption. I was rorted by the [REDACTED] of hundreds of dollars in bogus charges and unable to get a satisfactory recovery from the bank who simply ignored me, If little more than a slap on the wrist is the result of this Inquiry, then this would be just a complete waste of time. Banks cannot be trusted. It's time we had a banking system in which we can have faith, going forward. There is no other solution to ensuring that criminal behaviour of banks, is no longer part of our banking system, but to break up the banks with a Glass Steagal type legislation.

I hope you will consider my statement as a viable solution to stop the rot.

Thank you for your attention to this matter

Sincerely

[REDACTED]
