The present situation of the combination of commercial and investment banking as a single system under the same roof, has created a catastrophic disaster, in all forms of progress of our physical economy, in every field of human creativity. Humanity is suffering so much.

I simply do not trust present bank policies.

Structural Separation of necessary commercial banking from investment banking must be implemented immediately, as commercial banking must be under the strict control of Government.

We can start a full recovery rather than the looming , inevitable disaster we are currently facing.

Let the private investment banks gamble with there own money, not the public's.

I do not trust APRA either. It needs to be brought under government supervision, as is called for in the present House of Parliament, contained in the Bank Separation Bill 2018.

I commend the diligent hard work done thus far by you and your team. The action on the outcome of your Feb 2019 Final Report will determine a most important event in human history.
