To the Honorable Commissioner, I want to ask that you do break up the banks and enforce Glass-Steagall. They have shown to be untrustworthy, unlawful, and without conscience. If we had done the same things as they have done — commit fraud, lie, steal from people who have died, etc etc, we would now be sitting in jail. Why should the heads of these banks be allowed to get away with these things. Blue-collar crime is crime, whatever way you slice it. If these people are not held to the same type of justice as everyone else, I, for one, will feel there is no justice in this world. The separation of banks is the ONLY way to really safeguard hardworking Aussie families, plus holding the people who've done this accountable.

Thank you, Karen Spencer
