1. Reintroduction of Glass-Steagall

We absolutely need a separation of commercial banking with investment banking. This can be done by reintroducing the Glass-Steagall ACT as has been proposed by Bob Katter.

2. Education

I am 60yo old with a Master of Applied Physics. I have always appreciated the quality of education I received in Australia. However looking back I have noticed a huge blind spot in my education and that is a basic understanding of where money comes from and what gives it value. The only reason I could identify and rectify this, I believe engineered blind spot, came with introduction of the internet and access to less filtered information.

We must education the young on basic money matters, how to protect themselves and how debt enslaves individuals and society.

3. The use of the word "BANK"

The term BANK needs to regain trust and respect. If the Banks are separated the basic commercial banks that offer basic services should be the only institutions that can call themselves BANKS. What remains, effectively the casino side of the business should not be able to call themselves BANKS or appear to look like BANKS. This is how many are deceived. A classic example is that of the FEDERAL RESERVE in the USA which I only found out later in life that it is a private institution. This is deception.

4. Protect the ABC. Protect independent Journalism. Keep the Internet Free.

Without independent journalism and journalist our society has no CHECK & BALANCE. Protect freedom of speech at all costs.
