To Commissioner Hayne: In regard to the Interim Report of the Financial Service Royal Commission, there are several important Things to Do for the Australian People and it is waiting for Your Action Plan. The Outcome of this must to bring a New Banking Structure returns to a separation of the trading and savings banks to stop the manipulative, corrupt nature of the Banks in handling Money. The Reason is that having the two banking systems together administered by APRA can bring a Disaster of Bailing Out the Australian People's Deposits at Any Time. The Corruptly Excepted New Bill made in February for the APRA supports this potentially Dangerous situation. Commissioner Hayne, your action can make a Historical Difference. Bring the banking systems to two separate systems as they were historically in Australia. This will return to Simplicity and Transparency in the Regulatory System/APRA. Yours faithfully, Barry Conde
