I worked for [REDACTED] from 2016 - 2017. During the period I worked there, I was treated differently to my fellow colleagues. Inappropriate comments were made by my reporting Manager on a few occasions. She put in writing "Don't become an ISIS wife". I was highly offended by this comment as I am an Australian Muslim. I was bullied at work from both my reporting Manager and my 1 up and nothing was done about this. I made a complaint to an external party, but they had a lawyer and obviously being [REDACTED] knew I had no chance. At the time I had just bought a unit and was not working and able to afford a lawyer to be able to fight for justice. I spoke with Legal Aid who assisted in helping me fight the bullying. In our mediation, they provided a "response" from me to that insulting ISIS email, but they had made an error in the time stamp which I raised in the mediation but the mediator did not seem to care much about the fact that they had provided misleading evidence to a legal body.
