I was a sergeant in the Australian Federal Police/ I left that organization om April 1990 under a redundancy scheme. In the post, I received a cheque for just over $108.000. The cheque was not made out to me because I had not reached retirement age. I elected it to be made out to [REDACTED] I personally delivered the cheque to the [REDACTED] Branch of [REDACTED], now called [REDACTED]. The cheque went into a [REDACTED] fund and another one when it closed . It may have been [REDACTED]. When I approached retirement age, I contacted the bank and was told they could not find my Superannuation. This was even after I personally deposited the cheque with the bank I have tried all other agencies, none of which cam locate it. In effect, I regard the bank as having stolen my money ! [REDACTED] I hope you can assist me because no one else can ! .
