[REDACTED] In about 2008, I was offered to join [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] through [REDACTED]. The Financial Advisor from [REDACTED] arranged for Superannuation and Life Cover Super to be deducted from my nominated bank account on a monthly basis. After some years I received correspondence from [REDACTED] that I was only contributing towards [REDACTED] and not towards [REDACTED]. This was a concern to me and I raised my concern with the Financial Advisor for [REDACTED]. This advisor was unable to provide me with a valid reason as why this had taken place. I made arrangements for a nominated amount to be deducted for each of the above funds. As a result of the wrong advice provided by the Financial Advisor from [REDACTED], I have lost a few years of Superannuation contribution. I would kindly ask you to look into this matter and provide me with your advice if this matter could be taken further. Thank you Sincerely Glenville Kehl
