Dear Commissioner, you have heard over the past months, a small amount of the incredibly illegal things banks have been doing, against their OWN people. If, by now, you haven't realised they have no conscience, then there is no hope for this country. Crime is crime, whether committed by a burglar in the street, or by a suave-looking, smooth-talking banker in an expensive suit. Bankers should be tried in court for this, especially the top people. Burglars would be! If we don't, it sends a cruel message to us workers that we don't matter, our lives, our retirement, our savings, our plans, our dreams - - mean zero. We send people to jail for fraud. Bankers should be sent to jail—they are not above the law. Or are they....? I sincerely hope that you will be courageous and make the RIGHT decision. Sincerely, Karen Spencer
