Dear Commissioners, We desperately need Glass-Steagall to separate out the investments of small 'Mum and Dad' investors from that of big body corporates and superannuation funds. It is not in any way fair that the current system allows the 'ordinary workers' to go to the wall due to the high flying greed of big body corporates. Please change the system so that the workers and small farmers and food producers of the nation are protected from losing what little they have. At the present time it is the big body corporates which have all the 'wriggle room' and tax dodges while behaving as parasites in a system which should be designed for the people, not the corporate giants. Yours sincerely Carol D. Bailey
