Dear Sir, Glass-Steagall, freeing our banking system . The commission must for the benefit of all the Australian people must adopt a strategic view in ushering in a new era for our country, and that begins with the reinstatement of Glass-Steagall. Because the issue of banking separation is a systemic one, affecting the livelihood of every citizen of this nation. Over the subsequent eight years, our people have suffered the mounting effects of banking fraud, to the point that our nation now faces another financial blowout of far-greater magnitude than even that of 2007-2008. The only means of avoiding such a fate is the immediate restoration of Glass-Steagall today as the necessary first step to a full recovery program. Stopping the banks from looting super is one of the reasons we need Glass-Steagall structural separation! the banks shouldn't own super, or any other financial business, and that super is just one of the reasons Australia needs a Glass-Steagall structural separation of the banking system. Sincere regards Debra Scarfe
