This country is currently living on the precipice and furthermore in a fool's paradise. When will our politicians have the guts to make the hard decisions, rather than making the decisions that will appeal to the public to get them elected at the next election for example the introduction e.g. Glass-Steagall and the re-introduction of National Service to solve our juvenile crime rate and give our kids a trade and sense of pride. Separation of the banks into two categories i.e. commercial and personal is absolutely essential. The evidence is there, it is blindingly obvious that the banks MUST be broken up in to two sectors. The Banking Royal Commission must certainly be evidence enough without even considering the GFC. Time the federal Government started to look after the interests of Australians rather than their own futures. Despite what people may think of President Donald Trump, look what he is doing for America. Time we imposed import tariffs; bring back manufacturing to Australia and raise the GST to 15% and place a tariff on everything imported into Australia; rather than cutting the standard of living of Australians. It is time to return to the days of regulation. I worked in Singapore for nine years in the seventies when Lee Kuan Yu was the PM; PLEASE look to them as a way out of our demise e.g. one State run Super Fund which finances infrastructure. It is time we took a reality check. My wife and I have done a lot of travelling and have concluded that this is the greatest country in the world, but for how long. I am concerned about my children and Grandchildren. Thank youBob Dealtry
