Banks should not be involved in superannuation, it is one reason banks should be structurally separate, mandated by legislation. The Banking System Reform ( Separation Of Banks) Bill 2018 into the Australian parliament on 25 June 2018 to achieve a Glass-Steagall separation of commercial banks from all other financial activities for Australia. I Ian Pendleton fully support this bill, the banking industry involvement in superannuation to date has been unethical and will be unacceptable to the Australian people. Legislated structural separation of banks is desirable and necessary to address inherent problems.
