In my submission, I would like to call for a Glass-Steagall structural separation of banks, mandated by legislation, to stop banks from owning, and therefore looting, super funds. This is just one of the problems Glass-Steagall will solve, and to stop banks gouging customers on an industrial scale. Bob Katter introduced The Banking System Reform (Separation of Banks) Bill, 2018, into the Australian Parliament on 25th June, 2018, where a Glass-Steagall financial system would separate commercial banks from all other financial activities. Please include recommendations in your report that a legislated structural separation is desirable and necessary to address inherent problems.
